European Glass 1650 - 1950

English

Glass from Bavaria, Bohemia, Austria and Silesia

Here in the heart of Europe there is a world famous center of glassproduction that supplied Europe with all kinds of glass over centuries.

The Glasmuseum Passau offers a unique overview on this European history of glass.

30 000 pieces of glass - with 15 000 on display - show the great art and variety of glassmaking in the period from 1650 to 1950.

The collection focuses on the 19th century and the time of Art Nouveau – both the Golden Age of glass.

Within the same historical building you will also find the Hotel Wilder Mann. It was a famous hotel in the 19th century. Elisabeth II. („Sisi“), Empress of Austria, stayed one week in the “Hotel Wilder Mann” in 1862.

Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon, officially opened the glassmuseum on 15th of March 1985.
